Judge Henry J. McCarthy, Mrs. George I. Herring, Grant Jamison, Mattie Kimmel, Thomas J. Brown.

Judge Henry J. McCarthy, famed as one of the most brilliant men at the Philadelphia Bar and an orator whose wit and eloquence won for him an enviable reputation.

JUDGE HENRY J. MCCARTHY.

able man as an after-dinner speaker, died on Tuesday at his home in Philadelphia. Born in Philadelphia 33 years ago of Scotch-Irish descent, Judge McCarthy graduated from the high school when 17 years of age. Immediately he entered the law office of Judge William A. Porter. As was his parents, he, too, early in life became a staunch Democrat and entered into politics before he was admitted to the bar. In 1886 he became a member of the Quaker City Bar, having already won a reputation as an orator. When Judge James G. Gordon resigned from the Common Pleas Court No. 3, in 1891, Judge McCarthy was named by Governor Hastings to fill the vacancy. So well did he administer the duties of his office that upon the expiration of his term of appointment three years ago he was re-elected.

Mrs. George I. Herring.

Mrs. Florence V. Herring, wife of George D. Herring, died at her home in McKeesport on July 10, of cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Herring had been in poor health for some years. She was born at Fort Ligonier 10 years ago. The family formerly lived in Bedford, but for the past nine years resided in McKeesport. Mrs. Herring joined the Methodist Episcopal church when 12 years of age and was a devout member ever since. After she went to McKeesport she united with the First Methodist Episcopal church at that place and also became a member of the Epworth League. She was a loving wife, a kind mother and a faithful Christian and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. While in Bedford Mrs. Herring made many friends. She is survived by her husband and two children, George and Virginia, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hedding, of McKeesport, and a brother and sister, T. M. Hedding, of Bedford, and Mrs. J. H. Hedding, of McKeesport. The body was brought to Bedford Saturday morning, accompanied by her husband and mother. The funeral services were held at the home of her brother-in-law, B. F. Wilson, Sunday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. George Leidy, of the Methodist Episcopal church, York. Interment was made in the Bedford cemetery.

J. Grant Jamison.

James Grant Jamison died at the home of his father-in-law, Jacob S. Cessna, near Centerville, on Tuesday. Mr. Jamison was a son of James T. and Mary Jamison and was born in Snake Spring township. For a number of years he taught school in this county—one term in Broad Top, three in Snake Spring, two in Liberty, two in Coaldale. He was assistant principal of the Hyndman schools for three terms and afterward went to Coatesville to accept the principalship of the Coatesville school and was retained for the term of 1903-4. On February 22, 1898, Mr. Jamison married Miss Clara V. Cessna, who, with one child, survives him. He is also survived by two brothers and two sisters, Prof. Oliver S. and Miss Ida Jamison, of Hyndman, and Mrs. L. I. Kessel, of Butte City, Mont. The deceased was a member of the M. E. church and belonged to Hyndman Lodge, F. and A. M., which organization had charge of the funeral services, which were held Thursday afternoon. The body was laid to rest in the Bethel graveyard in Cumberland Valley. Mr. Jamison had been ill for some time, the cause of his death was heart disease. He was one of the foremost teachers of the state and a young man of excellent character. He was aged 31 years, seven months and 20 days.

Hattie Kimmel.

CHALMERSVILLE, July 21.—Hattie Kimmel, daughter of George and Annie M. Kimmel, died on July 14, 1903. Little Hattie's sojourn on earth was short, four months and seven days. A bud on earth to bloom in the paradise above. Tuesday evening she suddenly grew worse as a result of all that loving hands could do for her. Let it be testament of clay and on angelic wings was carried to that bright shore where she can forever enjoy the company of Him Who has said: "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh; blessed be the name of the Lord." Parents, brothers and sisters, remember that her journey of life is now ended, then let your sorrows be soothed by the comforting assurance that she has safely reached that beautiful haven of rest where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest. Her remains were interred in the Pleasant Valley graveyard, funeral services by Rev. W. W. Lingle, of Bedford.

At the Springs.

The arrivals at the Bedford Springs hotel the past week broke the record for this season.

Col. and Mrs. James M. Guffey and children, of Pittsburgh, are spending some weeks at the hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Duncan and daughter, Miss Martha S. Duncan, of Hollidaysburg, are registered at the Springs hotel.

Mr. Samuel Hancock, Jr., and family, of Wilmington, Del., are at the Springs for the summer. Mr. Hancock is the principal owner of this fine resort.

Ex-Governor and Mrs. Lloyd Lowmire, of Cumberland, are among the recent arrivals at the Springs.

Justice George Gray, of Wilmington, Del., arrived at the Springs the early part of the week. Judge Gray came into considerable prominence from his connection with the anthracite coal strike commission and is now being urged by his friends to enter the presidential race. The judge is a Democrat. He is an able jurist and wise statesman.

The Harrisburg contingent at the Springs will hold a german in the Bedford Springs ball-room tomorrow night.

The concert given by Professor Spikes' popular orchestra are greatly enjoyed by the guests and townsfolk.

It is made by Brightbill this night.

F. H. Brightbill, Bedford's busy carpenter, has purchased a Household fire with which a tree can be cut in five minutes. (See ad. on fourth page.) This is a valuable addition to the equipment of his factory and is in keeping with Mr. Brightbill's custom of keeping abreast of the times. The output of his establishment is all ways of the highest order and his work is guaranteed to give satisfaction. His business has grown rapidly within the last few years and for some time, in addition to supplying his local trade, he has been building special wagons, carriages, etc., for customers in other counties of Pennsylvania and in other states. His employees are competent and intelligent and every vehicle that bears the trademark, "Brightbill," is a sight.

Arrested For Disturbing Public Peace.

On Friday and Saturday fourteen young men of Bedford and vicinity were arrested on the charge of disturbing the public peace, the prosecutor being J. J. Dallinger, who was conducting a dance at Island Park, Wolfburg, Thursday night of last week, where and when the defendants by their rowdiness greatly annoyed those who were present. All of the boys but one acknowledged that they had violated the law and each paid the fine and costs, which amounted to $5.00. The young man who demanded a hearing was accommodated on Wednesday and found guilty. He paid $10.00, fine and costs. For certain reasons we withhold the names of the defendants this time.

First "Mental Anguish" Settled.

Richard Little, of Saron, editor of the Saronian, was made defendant on Tuesday in civil and criminal proceedings in Hibel by Postmaster B. E. Hibel and held under $1,000 bail. Damages in the sum of $10,000 are demanded in the civil proceedings. The actions are based on an article alleging that the officers of the Associated Board of Churches used their positions to levy blackmail in the name of charity. Editor Little spent three months in jail in 1901 for libeling Colonel Rippe. In his present suit Colonel Rippe, taking advantage of the new libel law, claims damages for "mental anguish."

That Whittaker Fortune.

Members of the Whittaker family, the American branch of which originated near Downingtown, are very much interested in a report that a fortune amounting to $200,000,000 awaits them in the Bank of England. In response to an inquiry made concerning the fortune a reply was sent to the Philadelphia North American by the chief accountant of the Bank of England that no such amount is in keeping there. Despite this fact the heirs are still devising means for advancing their claim. There are many Whittakers living in Bedford county.

Nice Sum From Cincinnati.

Dr. William Mann Irvine, president of Mercersburg academy, has received from his classmate, Thomas N. McCarter, of Newark, N. J., president of the People's Service corporation, $5,000 toward the new dormitory for the academy. The building will cost $40,000.

POPE LEO XIII.

Perhaps the Greatest of Pontiffs Expired on Monday.

LAST WORDS A BLESSING.

The Length of His Pontificate Was Over Twenty-Five Years—Important Events in the Life of the Deceased.

Rome, July 20.—Pope Leo XIII., head of the Catholic church, died at 4:04 o'clock this afternoon, aged 39 years, four months and 18 days. The period of his pontificate was over twenty-five years—important events in the life of the deceased.

POPE LEO XIII.

of over two weeks that the pontiff passed in the shadow of death was no less wonderful than his life. His splendid battle against disease was watched the world over with sympathetic admiration and ended only after a series of heroic efforts to conquer the weakness of his aged frame by the marvelous will power of his mind. The plan of his life was to devote himself to the service of his church and to the betterment of the world. He was a man of great faith and courage, and his death was a great loss to the Catholic church.

Tomorrow the Sacred College of Cardinals will assemble for the impressive ceremony of officially pronouncing Pope Leo dead. After this and such other rites as may be deemed proper will be taken to the small throne room adjoining the death chamber, where it will be embalmed. The funeral ceremonies will extend over nine days, the body being removed to the Cathedral of St. Peter, where it will lie in state. The ultimate resting place of the dead pontiff will be in the magnificent basilica of St. John the Lateran.

Pope Leo's parting words were whispered to the Sacred College of Cardinals by his nephews, who knelt at his bedside, and the last look of his almost sightless eyes was toward the great ivory crucifix hanging in the death chamber.

The perfect administrative machinery of the church provided against the slightest interruption of the governing authority. As the senior member of the Sacred College, Cardinal Oreglia, to whom the pope today solemnly committed the interests of the church, has become the exponent of the church's will, and the last look of his almost sightless eyes was toward the great ivory crucifix hanging in the death chamber.

Bedford is afflicted with a few young fellows who, when they are loaded with liquor, or imagine they are drunk, are always hunting for trouble—and they generally find it—unfortunately for the community, they make such a disgusting exhibition of themselves before they get what they deserve that respectable, law-abiding citizens who happen to be near are offended and disgusted by the disgraceful actions of the rowdies. These rowdies seem to have no regard for the law or for any man, woman or child. It makes no difference to them who are in sight and hearing, they taunt the atmosphere with their billingsgate and braggadocio. It is high time these offenders were taught to have some respect for the law. The authorities should make a special effort to correct this crying evil. If an example were made of one of the offenders, the rowdies would likely take warning and the people of Bedford could get about the streets without any danger of being disgusted by the vulgarity and vulgarity in which these young men indulge. All good citizens should be interested in this reform.

There are a great many hungry hearted women who would attend a baby sale for babies were ever offered for sale because they are a great many wives who love their children and have been told by physicians that they can never hope to nurse a child of their own.

Some of these women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of womanly ills have been made happy mothers and are the cure of womanly disease and the binding up of the general health.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and makes weak men strong. It establishes regularity, drives weakening drams, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

I wrote to you some time ago to get information about a case I says Mrs Mary Lee Pierce, wife of Dr David J. "I was troubled with female weakness and pain. Received answers from you asking me to send you letters from Favorite Prescription and Gaskins Medical Discovery. I took two bottles of Favorite Prescription" and found it did me good and I have married four years and had no children. I have been able to do my work and have a little baby boy born July 26th by the help of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I feel very highly.

Will you publish this letter if you wish.

Headache. Nervous

Take clear Water, and put one Spoonfull of the Juice of Lemons in one quart of this prepared water, and in it one ounce of your prepared coffee, and boil it gently one hour, and it is for your use, drink one-quarter of pint as hot as you can sip it. It doth abate the heat of the Liver, and the Acridities which is the gender of the Diseases called Cronicall.

A Tuning Liver.

A young Lady under her West-Indy adophilly Indolence, and this she call'd her "Laziness," was a "Phlegmatick" person in her body. She made the discourse in one of the exercises Incident teach us the young, and it how to cure After drinking five ones on the black and writing her letters two, three, four, five together with a primatist's verbal explanation she attempted the understanding of the title on by tuning to one bright eved little low and putting the question "Don't it sound like a tune?" rather have five pentons of a five cent piece.

on the other hand, it may be said that in two places—how often—there is a hindrance.

But Sir Paul is not a mere creature of legend. He was at it all along making a fine blintz saddle, the old gentleman holding some post at the New York office, getting for a government loan, and always voting faithfully for the "estate." The debate on Ireland was on finances, which Curran had no objection to denouncing and twitting by one of the opposite side, as some persons in consequence in the matter he replied:

"Sir, I am the guinea of my own honor."

To which Sir Gordon had rejoined:

"Then the Londoner in himself is a round about of my own—Sir the Royal Society."

Animals and Telegraph Poles.

A satirical thing, is the lot of electrical energy on birds and wild beasts. Says a telegraph lineman quoted in the Philadelphia Record: "Woodpeckers are continually tapping telegraph poles in the country you will find every able description of her visit to tomb of Napoleon I during the reign of Napoleon III. The coffin is not here," she wrote, but in a small chapel of St Jerome. Into this chapel she went, and I stood at arm of Napoleon III, his nephew, for the coffin of Enchained Blanche for I the granddaughter of that king who hated him most and who was victorious opposed him and this Napoleon III, he bore his name, being named and dearest ally. The organ the church was playing "God Save Queen" at the time and this solemn scene took place by torchlight and singing a grand reform. Strange and wonderful indeed!"

Willful but Not Anxious

Ministers sometimes observe some phases of human nature and persons collecting their services in performance of a particular duty. It is a common thing to see a woman for wedding vows, next a clergyman would be told some

"Yes, I'll tell her married."

"A stone mason's work is injured because when he is chipping it breaks in all the little chips and then they all fall into the lump."
All mechanical work is injured by the same principle.

The word "function" seemed to puzzle the children tremendously. Questions continuing that word were answered as follows:

"The skin discharges a function called perspiration."
"The function of the heart is to pump blood between the lungs."
"The heart's function is called its rate."

"Gagan's Luck"

I did not go out to see the surrender of General Leif. I remember the event of General Gagan's return at the surrender. I think I have seen more than a thousand pictures of him since the time that he was shot. I sent you a tale to write. He had a story of some expression of admiration and marked

Brutally Tortured

A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torturing has perhaps not been equaled. Joe Gelsbach, of Col cated a story. "For 17 years I had unbearable pain from the tumour which I knew I was going to die worth for that trouble. A few bottles

"— stared at him in astounded surprise and thought: 'He is either an angel or a subtle attack of insanity.' Then Mr. Tinsdale went on: 'You see some to be kind of unnatural that I shouldn't have at least a postmaster in my pocket. This little comment on the surrender of Lee was the only word of exultation ever heard from the victorious side.

It was a very slight expression of triumph, followed by such a stupendous achievement but wholly characteristic of the National Man, *and*ine.

Royalist and Abolitionists.

Certainly the loyalists and gentlemen and queens for centuries, succeeding latterly the royal game of chess which billed up the leisure moments of William the Conqueror, Queen Elizabeth and Charles I. The latter were absorbed in his favorite pastime which he had selected from that score of games determined to sell him to the United States parliament that thought it more than the intelligence bore to again play the game to the United States.

Victory preferred chess to the game of war, and during the war he found diversion by playing "patience." A keen chess player the great National would not submit to be beaten.
